Report of the Executive Committee.

South End Industrial School.

To the Members of the Corporation:—

The work of our long established industrial classes is so well known to our friends, that we wish this year to call especial attention to our new work, which is more social in its character. With a neighborhood overflowing with young people, with few resources of a healthful or elevating nature, we feel that our School should open its doors and offer some better attractions than the streets and cheap places of amusement. With this object in view, early in November we started a Choral Club for the older boys and girls to meet on Saturday evenings. Through the generosity of Mrs. Robert G. Shaw we were enabled to engage Mr. Archibald P. Davison as leader. He has both enthusiasm and ability. The Club has been a success from the first. There are forty members, nearly equally divided between boys and girls. Their choral work is fine, and the dignity of their behavior remarkable. The Saturday before Christmas after their practice in singing they remained for a dance, with light refreshments provided by themselves. The Club is now practising for a concert, the proceeds of which will pay for the music.

Under the auspices of the First Church in Roxbury a club has been formed for the older boys which meets on Friday evenings. They have practice in parliamentary law and talks on good citizenship ; sometimes they play whist. Their leader, Mr. Fitzsimmons, has taken them on tramps on Sunday afternoons. Our Superintendent is at home that evening, and the boys enjoy reading and music. They are largely graduates from our Industrial Classes, whom formerly we could not hold because we had nothing to interest them.

The South Congregational Church has wisely opened an evening class in carpentry and cabinet making. The boys, in their zeal to finish mission chairs and tabourets, worked in the carpentry room nearly all their Christmas vacation. The younger boys have their regular Saturday morning class in this work. This church also supports the cooking classes, one for girls on Saturday mornings and also a very popular one for boys Monday evenings. They intend to have an evening class for working girls this winter.

Another new and most successful venture is the Bartlett Street Mothers' Club. It is held from half-past two to half-past four on Thursday afternoons. The Club is supported by the Roxbury Female Benevolent Society of Dr. DeNormandie's church. Two experienced dressmaking teachers are employed to cut garments. The members may bring their own material or buy cotton goods at wholesale prices at the School. The first Thursday in the month after their sewing they have music and afternoon tea, at the other meetings someone reads or talks to them. The mothers can bring children from three years old to the school age, our Kindergarten teacher being present to amuse them. Those who find life crowded with the varied interests of work and pleasure can hardly realize what this Thursday afternoon means to these tired and overworked women. As one of them expressed it, "I look forward to Thursday afternoons like a child," and another said, "It is so good to get away from troubles and work."

The School was established for industrial training, and that is of course our main interest. We are glad to report that our classes are full to overflowing and that nearly all have waiting lists.

This year, after much careful consideration, we decided to give up the Printing Department. It has done splendid work in the past and many of its graduates are now earning good wages ; but it is difficult to find scholars, as they seem to prefer other trades. The running expenses being great and the number of pupils small we felt that we could do better work in other lines. The Cobbling Classes enjoy the large room which was formerly used by the Printing Department, and the Cane-seating Class, which was crowded into very small quarters, is very glad of the old cobbling room, the class being much enlarged this year. When the Basketry Class was called, twelve little boys who had received postal cards appeared and nearly all had friends and relatives with them. The names of these latter were put on the waiting list and they were turned sadly away. We have felt for a long time that our school was deficient in work for little boys between the ages of seven and nine, boys over sixteen and the mothers of our children. We have now begun good work for both the older boys and the mothers, but will not some friends come forward and do something for these little boys, who must not be left to roam the streets on Saturday mornings ?

The Kindergarten, Sewing and Dressmaking Classes are doing their usual good work. Through the kindness of Miss Alice A. Richards we have a second class in millinery again this year. The Free-hand and Mechanical Drawing have regular attendance. A small class in Algebra has been formed at the request of the older boys. They pay the instructor and bear all the expenses themselves.

If anyone doubts the value of the Little Housekeepers' Class, let them come to the Mothers' Club and hear them tell with pride of the improved methods which the children have introduced and the love of work which it has inspired in them. The Laundry is a very attractive sight with the little girls up to their arms in soap suds and later ironing with great zest. Many an older person might be proud of the good work they do. The Physical Culture Class is enjoyed by the young girls, and the regular Thursday evening Boys' Club has a good attendance. As in former years, it is under the charge of Mr. W. Howell Reed, Jr.

Our School Garden took the first prize, eight dollars, offered by the Horticultural Society for children's gardens. They also received prizes for vegetables, and early in September they held a Horticultural Show of their own that was well worth seeing ; each proud little gardener sat behind a table covered with the produce of his or her garden, with a card stating explicitly just what had been taken home during the summer.

The home garden and window box idea is growing, and with Miss Catherine Peabody's enthusiasm we hope that our children will set an example of what can be done to beautify the yards of the district. The Stamp Saving is under the charge of Miss Langmaid, Miss Bradlee and Miss Damon. On Washington's Birthday the reception was held, as in former years, for the parents and graduates. They were entertained by Mrs. N. H. Crocker and her friends.

Through the courtesy of the Country Week Committee many of our children enjoyed the coveted vacation of two weeks. We are also indebted to the Christmas Tree Committee of the Young Men's Christian Union for giving forty-eight of our poorest children a great treat at the Festival, and bundles of warm clothing.

In the summer all the younger children of the School were taken to Savin Hill Beach, where they enjoyed the delights of wading.

During the year we have lost two of our members by death. Mrs. John A. Waters, who was one of the Incorporators, was largely responsible for choosing the site of the School, which has proved so satisfactory in every way. She was unfailing in her devotion to the work, and always present at the meetings unless prevented by illness. Mrs. Waters was beloved by the members of the Committee, and they mourn her loss.

Mrs. Pollock was a faithful friend for many years, assisting in the Sewing School and on Committees until forced by ill health to give up active work.

Mrs. Markoe, who held the position of Superintendent for seven years, resigned to be married. She has endeared herself to our people by her sympathy in times of trouble. We especially appreciate her faithfulness in the many details of our work.

We have engaged Mrs. A. R. Damon, formerly of the Children's Aid Society, to fill the position of Superintendent.

We have lost by death many of our best Subscribers, but through the generosity of a friend five thousand dollars has been added to the Endowment Fund. The running expenses are larger and must be so with the additional classes and the larger use of the building.

Our opportunities for work are ever growing with the rapid increase of population; let us meet them with a broad spirit of helpfulness and a sympathetic interest.

For the Committee,

LOUISE HOWE.

CARPENTRY CLASS

Report of the Executive Committee.

South End Industrial School.

To the Members of the Corporation:—

Twenty-five years ago Miss Louisa Hall in her daily walks in Roxbury was impressed with the number of children idly roaming the streets, children who out of school hours must choose between the crowded, ill-ventilated tenements or the streets, nothing else being offered to them. Miss Hall knew of the good work done by the North End Industrial School, and the thought came to her that these children might be gathered together and taught the useful household arts in cheerful and pleasant surroundings. She expressed to Mrs. Sarah E. Hooper her wishes for these boys and girls, and Mrs. Hooper entered into her plans with enthusiasm. With Miss L. M. Peabody they presented the matter at a meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary Conference at the Church of the Disciples in December, 1882. In reading the early records we are impressed with the hard work done by those interested in establishing the School. Long search was made for a house, and finally our present location was selected; the wisdom of their choice has been amply proved, as no situation could better suit our needs,—plenty of good air and sunshine, accessible, yet in a district overflowing in all directions with those whom we are most anxious to reach. The comfortable, old-fashioned house of those days became so overcrowded that in 1901 the building was enlarged; but we feel that it has not lost its homelike aspects. Three of the first

Committee are still with us, Mrs. Judith A. Andrews, Mrs. Sarah E. Hooper, and Mr. William H. Varney, who has faithfully performed the duties of Treasurer for twenty-five years.

In May, 1883, the School was opened. Five months from the first meeting thirty-three children applied for admission, and two classes were formed, one for cooking supported by the South Congregational Church, and one for dressmaking by the Second Church; now these two churches with the Arlington Street, King's Chapel, The First Church, Boston, Church of the Disciples, The First Religious Society, Roxbury, All Souls, The First Parish, Dorchester, The First Parish, Brookline, support the following departments, some having more than one: Cooking, Carpentry, Dressmaking, Cobbling, Gardening, Mechanical Drawing, Kindergarten, Laundry, Cane Seating, Boys' Club, Mothers' Club, Girls' Club, Little Housekeepers and Millinery. Five classes are provided for by individuals: Second Millinery, Sewing, Free-hand Drawing, Basket Weaving and Choral. Under Miss Katherine Peabody, very successful Home Gardens were carried on last summer. This last year we have had seven hundred and thirteen regular scholars. Saturdays, both morning and afternoon, every available room in the house is filled with eager, happy children, and in the evening the Choral Class meets. This year it is augmented by a small orchestra. There are classes every evening in the week, including Sunday, when the older boys, after a tramp with their leader, gather around the open fire in the hall, to tell stories or make plans for future outings. The Bartlett Street Mothers' Club meets every Thursday afternoon for sewing and social intercourse, having the benefit of two experienced dressmakers to cut garments for it. It has a membership of thirty-six. The first Thursday in the month tea is served at the close of the meeting. All Souls Church decided that as there was a fine gymnasium at the Cabot Street Bath House it would be wiser to discontinue the class in Physical Culture and start a club for working girls. It was thought that they might wish to do fancy work, but they much preferred making shirtwaists and underwear. The club for older boys meets twice a week, Monday evenings for lectures on good government and kindred subjects, and on Fridays for current events class and parliamentary drill. The small boys still enjoy their Thursday night club, which is devoted to games and singing. The older boys have done some fine cabinet making in their Carpentry Class. Many social entertainments have been given during the year, besides picnics and excursions of various kinds. The Stamp Saving is successfully carried on by Miss Alice Poor. Miss Johnson, who has taught our dressmaking classes since the opening of the School, has been obliged to resign this year, finding her public school duties need all her time and strength. Her practical and faithful teaching is felt in many homes in Roxbury today, and the Committee appreciate how much she has done for the success of the School. Our Superintendent in her visits to the homes of our scholars finds many families in need of help and friendly advice. In assisting them we have had cordial help and co-operation from The Associated Charities, Districts 14 and 15, Roxbury Charitable Society, St. Vincent de Paul Society, St. Mary's Infant Asylum, St. Francis de Sales Church, South Congregational Church, Arlington Heights Baptist Church, the Dudley and Dillaway Schools, Home Cooking Class, Roxbury Court, Legal Aid Society, Gwynne Home, Massachusetts General Hospital, Homœopathic Hospital, Vincent Hospital, Burrage Hospital, Society for Prevention of Tuberculosis, Day Camp for Tuberculosis at Mattapan, Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary, The Transcript, Vacation House at Princeton, Boston Elevated Railway, and The Young Men's Christian Union for sending seventy-six children to the country, for rides for invalids, and for entertaining fifty of our poorest children at the Christmas Festival and providing them with bundles of clothing. We are indebted to Mrs. Shepherd Brooks for a reflectoscope and stereopticon, which means many evenings of pleasure and instruction to all members of the School and fills a long felt need. We have received from Mr. John A. Waters two shares of the Women's Club House Corporation stock in memory of his wife, Mrs. Frances A. Waters, who was one of our most faithful workers. Under the will of Charles Merriam we have received one thousand dollars, and eight shares of Connecticut River Railway under the will of Anna Q. T. Parsons. These legacies will add greatly to our invested fund.

The work of the School has increased so much that we need much more money for our general running expenses, and we especially desire a larger list of annual subscribers, many of those who have given to us in former years having recently died. During the last year we have painted the building outside and done much necessary repairing both inside and out, making extra expenses of five hundred and seventy-eight dollars.

Realizing as we do the great needs of this neighborhood, we long to reach out still further to it and do a much larger work than we are doing now; but this will be impossible without increased funds.

For the Committee,

LOUISE HOWE.

HAPPY GLENNON
